Responding to the Pulse tragedy.
Dear Friends and Colleagues,

I am pleased to share with you the outstanding accomplishments of the faculty and students of the School of Social Work at the University of Central Florida over the last academic year.

This year presented us with many opportunities to have a positive impact on children and families in the state of Florida through research and training grants in child welfare. We also worked closely with community agencies in the state developing knowledge and skills in substance abuse treatment and interventions. We continued our work in suicide prevention, particularly among youths in Florida, through interventions in the public schools.

We stood in solidarity with the community to support the victims, their families and others impacted by the tragedy at the Pulse club here in Orlando. Our faculty and students engaged in numerous community activities that strengthened our resolve toward a more just society for all people.

We joined in to help community providers in the midst of the Pulse crisis and have developed plans to sustain our work and to be a part of the healing process of this wonderful community.

We are excited that this year we successfully launched our new part-time M.S.W. program fully online. This has been a dream of ours for some time, and we worked tirelessly with partners across campus to develop and implement the program. By fall of 2016, we had more than 100 students enrolled in this program.

The school’s enrollments are strong, and we continue to hire new faculty with expertise in military services, trauma and children’s services. In this year’s Engage magazine we highlight each of these areas of our work and achievements and also showcase the research and service activities of our students and faculty. We are grateful for the support we receive from our community partners that allows us to jointly solve the most pressing problems facing our community and also to the university’s administration for helping to provide us with the resources we need to be successful.

Thank you for your commitment to the School of Social Work at the University of Central Florida. We appreciate all of the support you have provided to us and the feedback we have received from you about the effectiveness of our school.

All the best,
By evaluating innovative, evidence-based interventions for the families of very young children, the School of Social Work at UCF is working to reduce those numbers and at the same time transform the child welfare system through projects that are focused on better preparing the child welfare workforce.

In 2015, UCF was named the lead university implementing a one-year, $2.3 million contract to train social work students across Florida who would then become child protective investigators and case managers for the state. The contract involved 14 public and private universities in Florida with schools of social work. Full-time undergraduate and graduate students were eligible for stipends of $6,000 for one year if they earned their degree in social work, took classes specifically designed to prepare students to work in child welfare, and pledged to work for one year at a local DCF office or community-based care lead agency or subcontractor. Part-time students were eligible for $4,000 per stipend.

“One of the agency’s top priorities is to create a world-class child welfare system through the development of a world-class workforce,” said DCF Secretary Mike Carroll. “This project assists DCF in that mission by helping child welfare professionals develop the assessment skills necessary to ensure child safety and families across the state to realize better outcomes.”

This project met one of the major goals outlined in the 2014 Florida Senate Bill 1666, which is for 50 percent of child welfare professionals statewide to hold social work degrees.

“UCF is helping transform child welfare across the state.

Protecting Florida’s Children

More than 190,000 calls about potential child abuse or neglect were made to the Florida Department of Children and Families in fiscal year 2014-15. During that same time period, more than 262,000 active investigations were underway.

Carly Jensene, B.S.W. ’16, and and Maxine McGregor, Title IV-E stipend program manager and instructor
屏幕上的文字：

Developing evidence-based practices

Of the adults involved in a child's welfare, parents generally have the greatest influence. Unfortunately, not all parents are equipped with the necessary caregiving skills, resiliency and understanding of social and emotional needs to ensure their children are protected from child abuse and neglect and that they grow up in a safe and loving environment where their needs are met.

Ana Leon, social work professor, part-nered with Devereux’s Center for Resilient Children in Bartow, Fla., to help design, implement and evaluate the impact of a home-visiting, strengths-based curriculum aimed to evaluate the effectiveness of the sites, with the others acting as controls. The project aimed to evaluate the effectiveness of the intervention on three CFSR (Child & Family Service Review) outcomes: child abuse and neglect reports, permanency and stability in a child's living situation, and caregiving capacity. Noting the difficulty in studying this population — a moving target of families facing day-to-day crises — Leon stressed the importance of increasing research and implementing evidence-based interventions, while evaluating this intervention as a potential best practice.

Leon also emphasized that what is being done through grants like this is, in turn, taken into the child welfare courses at UCF, including the course on mental health in very young children and their families. "This is our commitment," she said. "We are training social workers to work with this population."

The number of people in Central Florida who are screened and treated for substance abuse is increasing, thanks to a $915,000 federal grant received by Shawn Lawrence, associate professor of social work. More than 1,000 UCF social work students and 500 local health care practitioners are being trained to use a simple protocol named “SBIRT” to quickly assess a person’s level of risk for substance abuse and choose the appropriate treatment or referral.

The goal is to grow Central Florida’s workforce capacity to use SBIRT in the region’s health systems.

The protocol to professionals at social service agencies and hospitals throughout Central Florida, including trainings done at Winnie Palmer Hospital for Women and Babies, the Orlando VA Medical Center, Parramore Kidz Zone, Florida Hospital and others. The faculty members are making on-site presentations, moderating webinars and offering opportunities for professionals to earn free Continuing Education Units.

"We’re working to develop partnerships in systems throughout Florida to promote the value of universal screening for substance abuse disorders in vulnerable populations in our state, including veterans, the elderly, the homeless and those with chronic illnesses," Lawrence said.

SCREENING AND TREATMENT FOR SUBSTANCE ABUSE EXPAND IN CENTRAL FLORIDA

Shawn Lawrence, standing right, with school colleagues, left to right, co-investigators Reshawna Chapple and Mary Ann Burg and project coordinator Coleen Cicale. Not pictured: co-investigators Tracy Wharton and Chris Stewart and Kim Gryglewicz and consultant Laurel Davis.

PREVENTING SUBSTANCE ABUSE DISORDERS

Shawn Lawrence, standing right, with school colleagues, left to right, co-investigators Reshawna Chapple and Mary Ann Burg and project coordinator Coleen Cicale. Not pictured: co-investigators Tracy Wharton and Chris Stewart and Kim Gryglewicz and consultant Laurel Davis.

Preventing Substance Abuse Disorders

Of the adults involved in a child’s welfare, parents generally have the greatest influence. Unfortunately, not all parents are equipped with the necessary caregiving skills, resiliency and understanding of social and emotional needs to ensure their children are protected from child abuse and neglect and that they grow up in a safe and loving environment where their needs are met.

Ana Leon, social work professor, part-nered with Devereux’s Center for Resilient Children in Bartow, Fla., to help design, implement and evaluate the impact of a home-visiting, strengths-based curriculum aimed to evaluate the effectiveness of the sites, with the others acting as controls. The project aimed to evaluate the effectiveness of the intervention on three CFSR (Child & Family Service Review) outcomes: child abuse and neglect reports, permanency and stability in a child’s living situation, and caregiving capacity. Noting the difficulty in studying this population — a moving target of families facing day-to-day crises — Leon stressed the importance of increasing research and implementing evidence-based interventions, while evaluating this intervention as a potential best practice.

Leon also emphasized that what is being done through grants like this is, in turn, taken into the child welfare courses at UCF, including the course on mental health in very young children and their families. “This is our commitment,” she said. “We are training social workers to work with this population.”

The number of people in Central Florida who are screened and treated for substance abuse is increasing, thanks to a $915,000 federal grant received by Shawn Lawrence, associate professor of social work. More than 1,000 UCF social work students and 500 local health care practitioners are being trained to use a simple protocol named “SBIRT” to quickly assess a person’s level of risk for substance abuse and choose the appropriate treatment or referral.

The goal is to grow Central Florida’s workforce capacity to use SBIRT in the region’s health systems.

The protocol to professionals at social service agencies and hospitals throughout Central Florida, including trainings done at Winnie Palmer Hospital for Women and Babies, the Orlando VA Medical Center, Parramore Kidz Zone, Florida Hospital and others. The faculty members are making on-site presentations, moderating webinars and offering opportunities for professionals to earn free Continuing Education Units.

“We’re working to develop partnerships in systems throughout Florida to promote the value of universal screening for substance abuse disorders in vulnerable populations in our state, including veterans, the elderly, the homeless and those with chronic illnesses,” Lawrence said.

SCREENING AND TREATMENT FOR SUBSTANCE ABUSE EXPAND IN CENTRAL FLORIDA

Shawn Lawrence, standing right, with school colleagues, left to right, co-investigators Reshawna Chapple and Mary Ann Burg and project coordinator Coleen Cicale. Not pictured: co-investigators Tracy Wharton and Chris Stewart and Kim Gryglewicz and consultant Laurel Davis.

PREVENTING SUBSTANCE ABUSE DISORDERS

Shawn Lawrence, standing right, with school colleagues, left to right, co-investigators Reshawna Chapple and Mary Ann Burg and project coordinator Coleen Cicale. Not pictured: co-investigators Tracy Wharton and Chris Stewart and Kim Gryglewicz and consultant Laurel Davis.
Orlando’s worst night ever brought out the best in many of its people, including the School of Social Work faculty, staff and students as they responded to the community’s needs after the Pulse nightclub shooting in June.

Instructor Mary Mann awoke on Sunday morning to a text from a friend, telling her to turn on her television — something had happened at Pulse. The next several hours were a blur, calls and more calls, figuring out where people were and if everyone was ok. The next day, she headed downtown to begin helping the survivors, the 49 victims’ friends and families, and others in the community begin to deal with the horror they had experienced.

Ultimately, Mann and other volunteers created a list of hundreds of counselors who volunteered at The Center, which had become the key location for the LGBTQ+ community, as well as answered a hotline and served at other locations, 24 hours a day. She and colleague Tracy Wharton, assistant professor, filled many of counseling timeslots on that list. The efforts were very personal for Mann. She and Michael Freeman, an adjunct instructor for the school, had done a study on social workers’ attitudes when working with the LGBTQ+ community, and she was instrumental in integrating more LGBTQ+ information into UCF’s social work classes. She also helped with the start of the Zebra Coalition for homeless LGBTQ+ youth who had been turned away from other shelters, and she supervised Zebra’s very first interns, three UCF students.

“Having worked with the LGBTQ+ folks, who are often marginalized and excluded even on a policy level, I was proud to see how my city came together and recognized that this happened to ALL of us,” Mann said. “I would like to see that sense of community and support remain.”
Brian Mai, president of the B.S.W. Student Organization, said turned their coursework into action, especially on campus.

Molina reminds them of the need for self-care, people that they are being affected by vicarious trauma counseling center, who are working with so many traumatized survivors who were in the club during the attack. All have post-traumatic stress disorder; most have not been able to support the community from the start, Mann said.

The first and most important thing they did was check on victims, survivors and their families and raise funds for The Hispanic Counseling Center, founded and directed by professor, learned of the need for Spanish-speaking counselors number of the victims were Hispanic. Olga Molina, associate director, Bonnie Yegidis, who was on board with finding ways to support the community from the start, Mann said. The attack happened on Latin night at Pulse, and a large group of volunteers downtown and used their research skills behind the scenes. All were encouraged by the school's director, Bonnive Yegidis, who was on board with finding ways to support the community from the start, Mann said. And the efforts continue.

“Aftercare will be needed for a long time,” Mann shared. “On that first holiday without someone, or on the attack’s anniversary. Months later, it often hits people who were taking care of others but not focusing on how it impacted them.”

“Brian Mai, president of the B.S.W. Student Organization, said the first and most important thing they did was check on each other and become a support system. They created a safe space where students could come and talk and begin to process what had happened.”

The students also planned a unifying event to honor the victims, survivors and their families and raise funds for The Hispanic Counseling Center, founded and directed by professor, learned of the need for Spanish-speaking counselors number of the victims were Hispanic. Olga Molina, associate director, Bonnie Yegidis, who was on board with finding ways to support the community from the start, Mann said. The attack happened on Latin night at Pulse, and a large group of volunteers downtown and used their research skills behind the scenes. All were encouraged by the school's director, Bonnive Yegidis, who was on board with finding ways to support the community from the start, Mann said. And the efforts continue.

“Aftercare will be needed for a long time,” Mann shared. “On that first holiday without someone, or on the attack’s anniversary. Months later, it often hits people who were taking care of others but not focusing on how it impacted them.”

The Pulse attack created a need for immediate crisis intervention, and everyone at the School of Social Work did their part. Those who stayed close to campus covered the classes of part. Those who stayed close to campus covered the classes of part. Those who stayed close to campus covered the classes of part. Those who stayed close to campus covered the classes of part. Those who stayed close to campus covered the classes of part. Those who stayed close to campus covered the classes of part. Those who stayed close to campus covered the classes of part. Those who stayed close to campus covered the classes of part. Those who stayed close to campus covered the classes of part. Those who stayed close to campus covered the classes of part. Those who stayed close to campus covered the classes of part. Those who stayed close to campus covered the classes of part. Those who stayed close to campus covered the classes of part. Those who stayed close to campus covered the classes of part. Those who stayed close to campus covered the classes of.
"BERNARDA ELIZABETH (ELI) GARCIA, a junior at the University of Central Florida, balances coursework and political activism," wrote Julia Schmalz in The Chronicle of Higher Education in February. "Recently Ms. Garcia, an undocumented student, was awarded the Mario Savio Lecture Fund’s Young Activist Award for her work fighting for immigrant rights. The once-shy young woman, working at the Hope CommUnity Center in Apopka, Fla., has successfully advocated for scholarships for undocumented students. Twenty such awards are now available at Seminole State College of Florida. Her goal is to earn a bachelor’s degree in social work in 2017 and to continue to work with her community on improving the quality of life through immigration reform and education."

In the moving video that accompanied Schmalz’s story, Garcia and her colleagues and friends described her journey from growing up in a small Mexican village with no running water to becoming the first in her family to receive a college (associate’s) degree. She described living with her grandparents and how they taught her to value not only the scarce water and food, but also education for herself and for others. Eventually, Garcia overcame her fear and found her own voice to advocate for herself and those in similar situations who could not speak for themselves.

Generally, one or two young people receive the national Mario Savio Young Activist Award each year. Recipients must have a deep commitment to human rights and social justice and a proven ability to transform this commitment into effective action. They also must be part of a larger community effort and considered by others as an inspirational leader or motivating force. The award carries a $6,000 prize.

Sister Ann Kendrick of Hope CommUnity Center admires Garcia’s tenacity, her heart and her courage. "She’s like a conscience for us when we make decisions. We circle back to Eli, to see what she thinks … She’s the voice of community for us," she said. "Eli stepped out of her house and got engaged in the broader community, much to the fear and resistance of her family. And now whenever any opportunity is presented to her, her reaction is ‘what about my people?’"

Where Would You Go?
#Displaced

Refugee Simulation Camp

UCF students and faculty set up a Refugee Simulation Camp on campus in March. The first-of-its-kind-at-UCF event was an interactive opportunity to “walk in their shoes” for a moment and learn more about immigrant and refugee populations. Organizers hoped people would think about how they would react if they were forced to leave their home country forever, with just a few minutes to decide where to go and what to bring. Six tents on Memory Mall gave a look at food, shelter, health conditions and other facets of a refugee camp. Participants heard the lived experiences of refugees and immigrants and learned how they can get involved.

In the refugee process, a person travels to another country, claims asylum and applies for refugee status. If granted, the person goes through Catholic Charities, which provides shelter, food and health care for 90 days. The refugee is then on his or her own and must pay back travel costs.

“One of our goals was to dispel some of the myths about refugees,” said social work Instructor Mary Mann. "They go through such an arduous process just to get to the first location. We wanted participants to understand what it means to be displaced.”

Sponsored by the UCF School of Social Work in partnership with Catholic Charities Refugee Resettlement of Central Florida and Hope CommUnity Center, Apopka, the simulation was the brainchild of Alfredo "A.J." Brion and other students from the Spring 2015 undergraduate social work elective Social Work with Immigrants and Refugees. The class will be offered again in the 2016-17 academic year.
ACHIEVEMENTS

B.S.W. Awards & Honors

CARLY JENSEN was honored as the College of Health and Public Affairs Founders’ Day Student for 2016. She graduated in May with a bachelor’s degree in social work and is now in the school’s Master of Social Work program as an advanced standing student. She was president of the B.S.W. Student Association, a mentor as a Burnett Community Scholar, an intern with the state Department of Children and Families, and a volunteer with guardian ad litem, hospice, Big Brothers Big Sisters and the Coalition for the Homeless. Her goal is to work with families impacted by child abuse and neglect.

SAMUELE VOLTARE successfully defended her Honors in the Major thesis titled “The Usage of Young Adult Literature as a Vehicle to Teach Cultural Empathy.”

Scholarships

MICHAEL AUGUSTA received the Dr. Cheryl Evans Green Memorial Scholarship.

VICTORIA BIRD received the Dawn Brett Memorial Scholarship.

M.S.W. Awards & Honors

REY DAVID DIAZ-SERRANO interned at the Orlando Veterans Administration Medical Center with the Patriot Academic PACT (Patient-Aligned Care Team) Social Work Team. Among his accomplishments there, he was invited by the national social work director to participate in a video recording for the 90th anniversary of the social work profession, distributed through the VA Pulse website. He also was a part of the National Association of Social Workers’ VA student spotlight poster, which was on display at the NASW conference in June, and he was selected as the Student Spotlight in the Association of VA Social Workers’ spring newsletter.

Scholarships

FANNY BENITES received the Marlene Richmond Memorial Scholarship.

MARY HORTENSTINE received the Charlotte Willis Memorial Endowed Scholarship.

ACHIEVEMENTS

KORI BLOWERS received the Light the Way Endowed Scholarship.

TEODORA DILLARD received the Patricia T. Barnes Memorial Endowed Scholarship.

ALICE NGAMIE AND HALEY ZILBERBERG received the Judith G. Thomas Endowed Scholarship.

JOEL PIEPER received the COHPA Endowed Memorial Scholarship.

Ph.D. Awards, Honors & Presentations

MELANIE BERGERON presented a paper on Considerations of Mobility Impairment in University Education Plans at the annual meeting of the Council on Social Work Education in Denver, Colo., in 2015.

COLEEN CICALE presented a workshop on “Financial Protection in the Era of the Affordable Care Act” at the Council on Social Work Education Annual Program Meeting in Denver, Colo., in 2015.

SHABU VARDHEE received the UCF Pearson Dissertation Completion Fellowship in spring 2016. His dissertation is titled “Determinants of Health-Related Quality of Life with End-Stage Renal Disease.”

Students, Faculty Members Care for Local Farmworkers at Free Clinics

UCF social work students and faculty members were among the 60 volunteers who provided free health clinics to Apopka-area farmworkers and their families in July. They joined teams of UCF medical, nursing and physical therapy students, University of Florida pharmacy students, and local physicians and staff members to hold the clinics at the Farmworker Association of Florida office. Most farmworkers and their families live in poverty and have limited access to health care services. The goal of the clinics was to offer compassionate care that included assessments, health education, recommendations and referrals.

Eighteen social work students, along with Assistant Professor Tracy Wharton, Associate Instructor Robin Kohn and Instructor Mary Mann, volunteered at the clinics. They served on the interprofessional teams and provided behavioral health assessments.

Pi Alpha Honor Society for Social Work

Phi Alpha fosters high standards of education for social workers and invites into membership those who have attained excellence in scholarship and achievement in social work.

Inductees for 2015-16

Amy Armas

Kalie Bennett

Barbara Mendez Campos

Ashley Leanne Clarimario

Tamara Danielle Diggs

Ashley Donegan

Raquel Estrella

Beverly Bonilla-Flores

Elisse Vee

Arroyo-Falcon

Adam Ferguson

Wytany Fleury

Hillary Gonzalez

Leysha Yamara Lopez Gonzalez

Aaron Hawkins

Deborah Hufschmidt

Angelica Jean

Mary Mancuso

Krista Naughton

Mandy Pantanella

Miranda Larraine Pest

Ollivia Quinn

Harlee Samuels

Kalangie Serrano

Kristopher Vitera

Instructor Mary Mann, far left, conducts a triage assessment while a nursing student watches.”
Students Reach Out
The B.S.W. Student Association had an incredible year with outstanding community projects. Officers Carly Jensen, president; Joel Pieper, vice president; Maggie Vera, treasurer; and Micaela Stone, secretary, led the way for students in the B.S.W. program to participate in a variety of activities and events related to a particular topic selected for the month.

2015–16 Events
ALZHEIMER’S AWARENESS
Throwback Prom at Tremont Assisted Living Facility

SUICIDE PREVENTION MONTH
Out of Darkness Walk to raise suicide awareness

HUNGER ACTION MONTH
Feeding the families at Ronald McDonald House

LEGISLATIVE, EDUCATION AND ADVOCACY DAY (LEAD) IN TALLAHASSEE
UCF had the most participants (172) from all the social work programs in Florida

HOLIDAY SEASON (Pictured left)
Donating 150 gifts to children in foster care or those less fortunate through the Gift Giving Tree

SOCIAL WORK MONTH
Social Work Panel representing child welfare, geriatric services and veteran affairs

DOMESTIC VIOLENCE AWARENESS
UCF Light Up the Night ceremony remembering the lives of domestic violence victims

Outstanding Alumna
Her connections to the Central Florida community run deep. So it was no surprise when Denisse Lamas, B.S.W. ’00 and M.S.W. ’01, was named the winner of the School of Social Work’s Outstanding Alumni Award in September 2015. Since obtaining her license as a clinical social worker in 2006, Lamas has been honored as the Intervention Specialist of the Year by the Center for Drug Free Living, developed the suicide prevention program for Orange County Public Schools and taught as an adjunct professor at UCF, among other professional awards and activities. In 2012 Lamas followed her dream and created Hispanic Family Counseling, Inc., where she serves as executive director, assists clients and families, and advocates for suicide prevention.

After the tragic shooting at the Pulse nightclub in Orlando in June 2016, HFC suddenly became the epicenter for friends and families of the predominantly Hispanic victims. Read more about how Lamas and other SSW alumni, students and faculty members reacted and continue to support to the community’s healing on page 9 of this publication.

Social Workers Honored
This year’s National Social Work Month — March 2016 — celebrated the social work profession and its dedicated practitioners. The month culminated in a special event with awards given to several in the UCF community by the Central Florida Unit of the National Association of Social Workers and the School of Social Work.

Educator of the Year
Mary Dillon, Ed.D., Sophia Dziegielewski, Ph.D*
*Also won the state award

Student Social Worker of the Year
Joel Pieper, B.S.W. ’16
Current M.S.W. student

Public Citizen of the Year
Briana Daniel
Founder of Street Team Movement

Field Community Partner of the Year
Arnold Palmer and Winnie Palmer Hospitals

Social Worker of the Year
Diane Burns
M.S.W. ’11, LCSW

DENISE DACOSTA
Orlando VA Medical Center

WILLIAM S. D’AIUTO
Florida Department of Children and Families

NANCY ELLIS
UCF College of Health and Public Affairs Center for Community Partnerships

EMILY GARTEN
Devereaux Family Counseling Center

MERCEDES F. MCCALL
Florida Bank of Commerce

JOAN NELSON
Heart of Florida United Way

MARY NORRIS
Arnold Palmer Medical Center

MICHELE SAUNDERS
Orlando VA Medical Center

USCHI SCHUELLER
Kinder Konsulting & Parents Too

FAITH SILLS
Office of the Public Defender

JUDITH G. THAMES
Winter Park Health Foundation

ROBERT WESLEY
Public Defender, 9th Judicial Circuit

TYRA WITSELL
Orange County Citizens’ Commission for Children

Community Connections

Denise Gammonly, associate professor, and alumna Laura Sterling, M.S.W. ’96, congratulate Diane Burns, center.
Students may enroll in the Online M.S.W. in the spring, summer and fall semesters. Details can be found at ucf.edu/online/degree/master-of-social-work-msw/.
Under the guidance of Associate Director of Research Mary Ann Burg, faculty members have been enormously successful in bringing externally funded grants to the UCF School of Social Work.

2015–16 GRANTS

- Florida Linking Individuals
  - Needing Care (FL LINC)
  - Pi: Kimberley Gryglewicz
  - University of South Florida: $2,269,744

- Comprehensive School Safety Initiative
  - Co-Pi: Kimberly Gryglewicz
  - Florida Department of Children and Families: $1 million

- Suicide Prevention
  - Co-Pi: Ana Leon
  - University of South Florida: $700,000

- Child-WIN: Child Welfare Workforce Innovation
  - Pi: Julia Steen
  - $50,000, March 1, 2016 - Jan. 30, 2017

- Enhancing Caregiving Capacity for Very Young Children
  - Pi: Ana Leon
  - $28,267, June 1, 2015 - June 15, 2016

Refereed Journal Articles

Books

FACULTY PUBLICATIONS

Author Student
Faculty and Staff, 2015-16

FACULTY PROGRAM COORDINATORS

- Kim Anderson, Ph.D., M.S.S.W., LCSW
  Professor, Public Affairs Doctoral Program
  Social Work Track Coordinator

- Mary Ann Burg, Ph.D., M.S.W., LCSW
  Professor
  Associate Director of Research

- Robin Kohn, M.S.W., LCSW
  Associate Instructor,
  B.S.W. Program Coordinator

- Shawn Lawrence, Ph.D., M.S.W., LCSW
  Associate Professor,
  M.S.W. Program Coordinator

- Shellene Mazany, M.S.W., LCSW
  Instructor, Online M.S.W. Coordinator

- Jacqueline Withers, M.S.W., LCSW
  Associate Instructor,
  Field Education Coordinator

FACULTY

- Christine Ferreretti, LCSW
  Instructor

- Anne Leon, Ph.D., M.S.W., LCSW
  Professor

- Julia Steen, Ph.D., M.S.W.
  Associate Professor

- Kevin Brown, Ph.D., M.S.W.
  Lecturer

- Denise Gamooley, Ph.D., M.S.W., LCSW
  Associate Professor

- Tiffany Lumpkin, Ph.D., M.S.W., LCSW
  Visiting Instructor

- Shelley Hall, M.S.W.
  Instructor
  Assistant Field Education Coordinator

- Mary Mann, M.S.W.
  Instructor

- Kim Gryczewicz, Ph.D., M.S.W.
  Assistant Professor

- James Whitworth, Ph.D., M.S.W., LCWSW
  Associate Professor

- Reasha Chappell, Ph.D., M.S.W., LCSW
  Professor

- Shelley Hall, M.S.W.
  Instructor
  Assistant Field Education Coordinator

- Maxine McGregor, M.S.W.
  Assistant Field Education Coordinator

- Stephanie Koszałka, M.S.W., LCSW
  Visiting Instructor

- Olga Molina, D.S.W., M.S.W., LCSW
  Associate Professor

- Mary Dillon, Ed.D., M.S.W.
  Lecturer

- Tameca Harris-Jackson, Ph.D., M.S.W., LCWSW
  Instructor

- Irady Roche, M.S.W.
  Instructor
  Field Education

STAFF

- Lauren Briggs
  Field Program Assistant

- Vanessa Hayward, M.S.W.
  Coordinator, M.S.W. Academic Advisor

- Lisa Johannes
  M.S.W. Program Assistant

- Zaida Valentin
  B.S.W. Program Assistant

- Maxine McGregor, M.S.W.
  Instructor
  Title IV-E Stipend Program Manager

- James Whitworth, Ph.D., M.S.W., LCWSW
  Associate Professor
  School of Social Work Director

- Vivian Casanova
  M.S.W. Program Coordinator
  Title IV-E Stipend Program

- Vanessa Mora
  M.S.W. Program Coordinator

- Chichi Pizarro, M.A.
  Assistant Director, Administrative Services

- Ada Heller
  Administrative Assistant

- Waleska Tidd
  Executive Secretary

- Jeffrey Williams, M.Ed.
  Title IV-E Budget Coordinator

- Zelda Valentin
  B.S.W. Program Assistant

- Adriana Kelly, B.A.
  Coordinator, Online M.S.W. Academic Advisor

- Tameca Harris-Jackson, Ph.D., M.S.W., LICSW
  Lecturer

- Bonnie Veggild, Ph.D., M.S.W.
  Assistant Professor

- Denise Gamonley, Ph.D., M.S.W., LCSW
  Associate Professor

- Olga Molina, D.S.W., M.S.W., LCSW
  Associate Professor

- Catherine Cash, M.A.
  Coordinator, B.S.W. Program Advisor

- Vanessa Hayward, M.S.W.
  Coordinator, M.S.W. Academic Advisor

- Chichi Pizarro, M.A.
  Assistant Director, Administrative Services

- Vanessa Mora
  M.S.W. Program Coordinator
  Title IV-E Stipend Program

- Christine Ferretti, LCSW
  Instructor

- Ana Leon, Ph.D., M.S.W., LCSW
  Professor

- Julia Steen, Ph.D., M.S.W.
  Associate Professor

- Kevin Brown, Ph.D., M.S.W.
  Lecturer

- Denise Gamooley, Ph.D., M.S.W., LCSW
  Associate Professor

- Tiffany Lumpkin, Ph.D., M.S.W., LCSW
  Visiting Instructor

- Shelley Hall, M.S.W.
  Instructor
  Assistant Field Education Coordinator

- Maxine McGregor, M.S.W.
  Assistant Field Education Coordinator

- Stephanie Koszałka, M.S.W., LCSW
  Visiting Instructor

- Irady Roche, M.S.W.
  Instructor
  Field Education

Not Pictured

- Chris Stewart, Ph.D., M.S.W.
  Associate Professor

- Luann Briggs
  Field Program Assistant

- Chichi Pizarro, M.A.
  Assistant Director, Administrative Services

- Adriana Kelly, B.A.
  Coordinator, Online M.S.W. Academic Advisor

- Jeffrey Williams, M.Ed.
  Title IV-E Budget Coordinator

New in 2016

- Stephen Kohn, M.S.W., LCSW
  Associate Instructor, B.S.W. Program Coordinator

- Linda Flynn, Ph.D., M.S.W., LCSW
  Associate Professor, M.S.W. Program Coordinator

- outdoorsllama, M.S.W., LCSW
  Assistant Professor, Field Education Coordinator

- Shellene Mazany, M.S.W., LCSW
  Instructor, Online M.S.W. Coordinator

- Jacqueline Withers, M.S.W., LCSW
  Associate Instructor, Field Education Coordinator

- Sophia Zozulywski, Ph.D.
  Professor, Chair, University Institutional Review Board

- Stephanie Kozak, M.S.W., LCSW
  Visiting Instructor

- Ingrid Roche, M.S.W.
  Instructor, Field Education

- Shannon Murphy
  Online M.S.W. Program Assistant
At the UCF School of Social Work, every gift has an impact that extends beyond the campus into our communities. For information about how you can support the school, contact Sarah Drehoff, ’09 and ’10, at 407.823.3525 or sarah.drehoff@ucf.edu.

Undergraduate Programs

- Bachelor of Social Work
- Certificate in Aging Studies
- Certificate in Children’s Services
- Aging Studies Minor

Graduate Programs

- Master of Social Work
  - FULL-TIME TRACK
  - PART-TIME TRACK
  - ADVANCED-STANDING TRACK
  - ONLINE TRACK
    - NEW IN 2016
  - ONLINE ADVANCED-STANDING TRACK
    - NEW IN 2017
- Certificate in Military Social Work
- Doctoral Program in Public Affairs
  - SOCIAL WORK TRACK

The B.S.W. and M.S.W. programs are fully accredited by the Council on Social Work Education.